Dear Stan,

I was very pleased to have been included as a guest at your impressive swearing-in ceremony today. I wish you the very best in the new job.

If I can ever be of any possible help to you or the Agency I want you just to holler.

I had many challenging assignments in government, but none equaled being DCI. It was, I guess, a combination of things - the access to information, the magnitude of the tough problems, the importance of mission - but most it was the people.

Good luck, congratulations and thanks so much for including me in today's festivities -

Sincerely,
